Town's traffic hell after A14 smash

ROADS in and around Newmarket were gridlocked for up to 12 hours after a lorry jackknifed, blocking the A14.

The crash brought misery to motorists on one of the busiest days of the year.

Tailbacks of up to 25 miles were reported on the A14, A11 and M11 and minor roads were jammed as drivers tried to find a way through.

The chaos continued until after 11pm on Friday – more than 12 hours after the crash which left the road littered with spilt fuel and debris from the central reservation, where the lorry had crossed over into the neighbouring carriageway.

The lorry driver was seriously injured and was airlifted to Addenbrooke's hospital. But a couple in a car involved in the crash escaped unhurt.

Newmarket Town Council has previously complained about the town being used as a diversion route. But a senior traffic police officer told the council last year that there was no other way.

Councillor Bill Burch, Newmarket's mayor, said Friday's chaos was just a taste of what could be to come for the town with major work planned at the Clocktower junction.

"It was just a typical example of what happens when the A14 is blocked and it isn't going to get any better," he said.

"It will be a hell of a problem – particularly if something like this happens while they are working on the Clocktower junction."

He added: "When the A14 closes Newmarket suffers."

Work on the Clocktower junction is due to start in July.

The couple in the car involved in the crash say they "won the A14 lottery" by walking away from the wreckage.

Janet and Geoff Doggett, of Fulbourn, were in their silver Toyota Corolla, just about to leave the eastbound exit slip road to Newmarket at 11am on Friday, when a lorry with a burst front tyre came ploughing towards them from the opposite carriageway.

Mr Doggett said: "We still cannot believe we walked away from the impact.

"To those who suggested we go out and buy a lottery ticket, we didn't have to, as we felt we had both that morning already won the A14 lottery."

Mr and Mrs Doggett were full of praise for the emergency services staff who helped them from their wrecked car.

They said: "We wish to say a special thank you to Pc Kevin Fuller of Suffolk Constabulary and Nigel Bunn of East Anglian Ambulance (NHS) Trust for their on-site kindness and personal attention to what was to us a very traumatic experience."

Children welcome in May Day with flowers

A SCHOOL which has its 300th birthday this year staged a traditional May Day celebration.

All 90 pupils at Burrough Green Primary School took part in Maypole dances and other activities.

One of the pupils, Chloe Moran, 11, was the May Queen for the activities which have been staged for more than 40 years, but were likely to have been part of the school's earlier history.

The youngsters left garlands and posies on doorsteps in the village after the ceremony.

The school was founded by a village vicar in the 17th Century and is still supported by some of the charities which originally helped to finance it.

The original building is still used by the school, whose head, Steve Dennington is to retire in September after 17 years.

The school governors have already appointed an acting head to replace him. He is Keith Archer, deputy head of Meadow School at Balsham.

Nearest services just a click away

A NEW online search facility has been launched by a council to help residents find local services.

Forest Heath District Council is the first council in Suffolk to unveil the "Find My Nearest" service on its own website.

Information about recycling centres, developments planned in the area, Council Tax bandings and leisure services can be found along with schools, doctors, chemists and libraries.

Councillor Tony Wheble, the council's member champion for information technology, said: "Forest Heath is leading the way with this innovative move. This customer tool will benefit many people and has been developed by an excellent small IT team with limited resources."

To search on www.forest-heath.gov.uk just click on the "Find My Nearest" button at the top right hand side.

Salary is fair, says new council chief

BY John Goode
Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

ONE of the country's highest-paid council chiefs has defended her £220,000 salary.

Andrea Hill's appointment as chief executive of Suffolk County Council sparked a political row over her pay which led opposition Labour councillors to lodge an official complaint to the council's auditor.

The Labour group has complained that she will be earning about £70,000 more than the man she replaced and could also be in line for a handsome redundancy payout if the council is abolished to make way for a new one in two years.

But Mrs Hill, who lives in Duxford and was assistant chief executive at Cambridge City Council between 1994-9, was unfazed by the controversy.

She said staff and councillors of all parties had been "very welcoming" and those with concerns about her pay had been at pains to make it clear that their criticism was not personal.

She said: "I think the salary is a fair rate of pay for the job I'm doing and is very similar to other council chief executives.

■ GOING RATE . . . Andrea Hill defended her £220,000 council salary.

"I lead 28,000 staff and the council has a budget of £1 billion providing hundreds of services to 700,000 people right across Suffolk.

"If I worked for a company of the same size in the private sector I could earn around three to four times that amount but I want to work in local government and have done so for 23 years."

Mrs Hill, 44, has lived in Duxford for 12 years with her insurance broker husband. They have three sons aged 11, 18 and 21.

She is originally from Essex where she began her career. Before her move to Suffolk's Ipswich headquarters she headed Bedfordshire County Council which went from being one of the worst in the country to a "good" rating in less than three years.

At Suffolk she will help guide the council through two of the biggest shake-ups the county has faced – council reorganisation and education reorganisation.

The county has already voted to back a single council for the county as a whole with a new "One Suffolk" authority replacing the existing county council and the seven district and borough councils.

On education, she argued that the switch to a two-tier system which will lead to the closure of middle schools in Newmarket, Mildenhall and Haverhill, would improve results.

In the meantime she said she aimed to make Suffolk County Council "the best in the country".

Bag grabbed

A WOMAN'S handbag was stolen from her bicycle basket as she walked on a footpath.
Two young men grabbed the bag as she was pushing her bike on a path known as the Yellow Brick Road in Newmarket near George Lambton Avenue.
Two white men, thought to be in their 20s, are being sought by police. They are described as tall and slim.
Anyone with information about the incident, which happened at around 11am last Tuesday, should call Sgt Jo Garrard at the Newmarket North Safer Neighbourhood Team on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Burned out

A CAR stolen from Newmarket was later found burned out in nearby Fordham.
The grey Seat Altea was stolen from a driveway in Exning Road, Newmarket, between 9pm and 10.40pm on Friday, April 25.
In a separate incident the back window was smashed on a Volkswagen motor caravan in a car park in Lester Piggott Way, Newmarket. The silencer was also removed between April 5 and Saturday, April 26.
Anyone with information about the thefts should call Pc Stuart Manels at Newmarket police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Accused

TWO men have appeared in court charged with burglary at a school.
Daniel Todd, 31, of Sand Acre Close, Mildenhall, and Michael Allaway, 33, of Howarde de Walden Way, Newmarket, are accused of breaking in to Riverside Middle School in Mildenhall between April 24 and 25.
They appeared in court at Bury St Edmunds on Saturday and are due to return on Thursday, May 22.

Steel stolen

STEEL worth about £600 has been stolen from the car park of a factory unit.
The theft, from the unit in Leyton Avenue, Mildenhall, is the latest theft of metal from the town's industrial estate.
Anyone with information about the theft, which happened between 6pm on Friday, April 25, and 8am the following Monday, should call Pc Sarah Chapman at Mildenhall police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Measures to cut noise at stadium approved

NEW sound reduction measures around a speedway and banger racing stadium and a nearby motocross track have been approved by councillors.

The measures at Mildenhall Stadium, home of the Fen Tigers speedway team, and the nearby MotoLand UK track are being taken to prevent them from being closed down by environmental health officers following noise complaints.

Forest Heath District Council environmental health officers have served noise abatement orders on both operations which require action to be taken by June 1.

Appeals have been lodged against the notices which are due to be considered by magistrates on Monday.

But the council's environment health chiefs said they would withdraw the noise abatement notices once planning permission was granted for the work.

Now the council's planning committee has approved the installation of a five-metre earth bank around the motocross track at Hayland Drove, West Row. The committee has also agreed to the use of straw bales piled three high to help reduce the noise of motor-bikes in the surrounding area.

At the stadium, which stages banger car races as well as greyhound racing and speedway, close-boarded fences of up to 8ft have been approved.

Crowds enjoy fun in the sun at traditional fair

THOUSANDS of people flocked to the village of Reach for the centuries-old fair on Bank Holiday Monday.

The fair, reputedly the oldest in the country, dates from 1201 when King John granted a charter to the mayor and burgesses of Cambridge.

Cllr Jenny Bailey, Mayor of Cambridge, proclaimed the fair open with the traditional throwing of new coins to local children.

The village's Fair Green is at the end of the Devil's Dyke, the ancient earthwork which extends for seven miles across Newmarket Heath.

Andrew Towers, one of the fair's organisers, said: "It was a really good day, I would guess in the region of about 7,000 attended.

"All the family entertainment was a great success."

Fundraiser will aid charities

A FUN day is being organised at a primary school to raise money for three pupils with leukaemia.

Pupils at St Mary's Primary School, in Mildenhall, together with parents and friends will be helping to raise money for leukaemia charities at the event which includes a sponsored run for children and 5km run for adults.

Karen Miller, child and family support co-ordinator at the school, said: "It's extremely unusual to have three children at the same school with leukaemia. The national average is one in 300 and we have three in 300."

The youngsters affected are Bethany Way, who is in the early years class, Sam Sharp in Year 1, and Charlie Bishop in Year 3.

Wendy Garrard, headteacher, said: "We began our appeal at Christmas, since then the children, their families and staff have worked very hard and I feel we have achieved our aim, I am especially proud of the children and their contribution."

The event at the school, in North Terrace, Mildenhall, will take place between 11am and 3pm on Saturday.

Dogs on show

RETIRED racing greyhounds will benefit from a fun dog show.

The event will be staged on Sunday at Mildenhall Stadium, West Row, by the Mildenhall Retired Greyhound Trust.

Retired racing dogs can take part along with dogs of all shapes and sizes in the 18-class show.

The money raised will go towards the care of retired greyhounds.

Parking zone boss set to cost £66k

A COUNCIL is to spend more than £66,000 to employ a project manager to help bring in residents' parking zones because all its staff are busy with other schemes.

People living near Newmarket town centre have been pressing for a permit parking scheme since the introduction of charges for the town's car parks three years ago.

They complained that the charges had led to more cars being parked in surrounding streets.

More than 100 residents in the Rous Road and Lisburn Road areas of the town last year signed a petition calling for the council to take action.

Forest Heath District Council agreed in November to spend £5,400 on a second survey of residents after a poor response to an earlier survey led to the permit scheme being put on hold.

BY John Goode

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

Now the council's community services committee has ruled that the project is "urgent" and has approved plans to spend £66,600 to pay for a dedicated project manager outside of the council.

A report to the committee showed that all the council's top officials were already busy with other work including overseeing the local government review which could see the creation of just one or two councils covering the whole of Suffolk.

The report by Andrew Claydon, the council's strategic director (resources), said that an approach had also been made to Colchester Borough Council, whose parking wardens patrol the car parks, but it was also unable to carry out extra work.

Mr Claydon's report said the formal consultation of residents could not take place until the project officer was appointed.

It was originally planned to bring in the residents' parking zones in March of next year, if a survey showed sufficient support.

But the introduction could be delayed even if the survey gets the backing from residents.

The proposals are to have two residents' zones – one covering the south-east part of the town including 28 streets from the High Street to the town's railway station, and the second one to include 22 streets in the north-west of the town stretching to Lowther Street and Icewell Hill.

The council has warned that the cost to residents for the annual permit could be "considerable" and would still not guarantee a parking space outside their own homes.

Residents who do not buy permits could be given penalty tickets for parking in the zone.

Thieves take water tanker from farmyard

A 36-FOOT water bowser has been stolen from a farmyard.

The red and white tanker was taken from a yard at Birchinhill Drove, Kenny Hill, near Mildenhall, between 5pm Friday, April 25, and 10am the following day.

Police have appealed for anyone who may have seen the tanker being towed away or who may know where it is now to contact Pcso Terry Joynson, of the Lakenheath and the Rows Safer Neighbourhood Team on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Village marks railway links with the past

VILLAGERS remembered the days when they had a railway station – more than 40 years ago.

The station at Burwell has long since disappeared. But now its site has been marked with a plaque provided by the local history society.

The plaque was unveiled by Richard Crick who worked as a signalman on the line.

Pictures, models and memorabilia about the station which once stood at Reach Road were on display.

Since the closure of the branch line, which ran to Burwell, the station was replaced with a cardboard factory which has also been demolished to make way for the modern housing estate that now stands on the site.

Pat Kilbey, a member of the special projects committee of the village history group, said: "We feel this is an important part of our village history.

"Many of the older people remember the station and are sorry that it is gone, but some of the children and newcomers to the village have no idea that we ever had a railway station here."

The plaque was the sixth installed in the village to mark historic sites including the old jail, the animal pound, and a barn where more than 70 people died in a fire in 1727.

Cheaper update still an option for historic hall

AN HISTORIC hall in Newmarket could still be refurbished – even though a bid for lottery cash was rejected.

The town council is now considering a cheaper scheme to update the Memorial Hall in the town's High Street.

The hall, used by the council as offices and meeting rooms, is nearly 100 years old and was originally given to the town by Sir Ernest Cassel to commemorate King Edward VII.

The town council inherited the hall from Forest Heath District Council eight years ago and has considered a range of proposals to bring it up to date.

The latest plans, which would have cost £1.3 million, foundered after a bid for £500,000 from the Big Lottery Fund was turned down earlier this year.

BY John Goode
Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

Now town councillors are considering a £750,000 scheme. The council is hoping to borrow £500,000 from a public works fund and get a £250,000 grant from the district council.

Councillor Bill Burch, the mayor, said: "We want to refurbish the hall so it's useful to the council and visitors. But I don't want to commit the people of Newmarket to a big bill."

He said he would support a new bid for lottery funding.

New architects are being asked to draw up outline plans for the hall.

The current proposals under consideration include moving the council's offices downstairs from the upstairs rooms it currently uses.

But a refurbishment of the council chamber, the upstairs meeting room, has been given low priority.

A single-storey area of the hall could be demolished and rebuilt with a larger extension with the capability of an extra storey to be added.

The extension would house the new offices, kitchen and bar area.

New toilets, wiring, heating, fire alarms and computer systems are also under consideration.

The town council has had to deal with dry rot in the floor, a leaking roof and other problems since it took over the building, which still bears the scars of the Second World War bombing of the High Street.

Cllr Burch said: "It's in a much better state since we took it over."

Skatepark attack on teenager

A TEENAGER was assaulted by an older youth in a skatepark.

The 15-year-old boy was punched and head-butted at the skatepark off George Lambton Avenue, Newmarket, but he did not need medical treatment.

The attacker is believed to have been about 17. He was wearing a black baseball cap and a green top.

Anyone with information about the incident, which happened at around 5.40pm on Monday, April 21, should contact Pc Paula Gooch at Newmarket police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Travellers launch new bid for land

GYPSY families thrown off land they own are making a new bid to be legally allowed to use it as a permanent site.

BY John Goode
Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

Members of the Macdonald and Lewis families were evicted from the site at Breach Drove, Beck Row, by court bailiffs in February.

They had appealed against Forest Heath District Council's refusal of planning permission to allow them to stay on the 2.4 acre site, but the appeal was rejected.

Planning inspector Lucy Drake said the site was "simply inappropriate and unsuitable" and their use of the land had a "profoundly detrimental impact" on people living nearby who complained about dogs running loose, car-breaking and disturbance.

Now they have submitted a new application for permission to use a smaller piece of land. They are asking for permission to site five mobile homes and four touring caravans on the land, together with a day room.

The previous plans were for up to 18 caravans.

Planning consultants acting for the families said they were advised by the police not to go to the nearby Sandy Park "official" travellers' site after "serious disorder" on December 31.

The district council has just been awarded £750,000 from the Government Office for the East (Go-East) towards a £1 million refurbishment of the Sandy Park site.

The balance of the money is coming from the council's capital reserves.

The site, run by Gloria Buckley, has 35 pitches.

Cllr Robin Millar, the district council's champion for diversity, said: "This is an established site so I am very pleased that we managed to secure such a large grant from Go-East.

"The facilities at Sandy Park have a reputation for being well managed and will now be even better for the refurbishment."

Group comes to man's aid

HORSE racing workers have been praised for helping save a man involved in an apparent suicide attempt.

The group of four men helped to revive the 26-year-old who was found with a scarf around his neck near a Newmarket horse walk.

Paul Wake, a work-rider for trainer Charlie McBride, and a friend Simon Stephens, stepped in to help two other men.

The incident happened off Exeter Road, Newmarket, at about 9.30pm on Monday, April 21.

The group gave mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and the man, who is also employed in Newmarket's horseracing industry, was taken to Addenbrooke's hospital by ambulance.

An East Anglian Ambulance spokeswoman said: "It sounds as if he was a lucky man."

Suffolk police confirmed that officers had been alerted to the incident.

Second bag ban day hailed a success

NEWMARKET'S second day of banning give-away plastic carrier bags has been hailed a success.

Schools in the town have supported the campaign by local group ReNew and helped to unveil a bench made from recycled plastic bags in the Memorial Hall Gardens.

Volunteers from the campaign and council workers helped to give away 2,000 reuseable fabric bags and collected 1,300 pledges from shoppers to cut their use of free supermarket bags.

Cllr Chris Turner, Newmarket's deputy mayor who heads the campaign, said: "This was better than our first day last month. We had more volunteers out and the response was encouraging."

Supermarket chains Tesco and Waitrose, where a special "green till" was opened on the day, supported the initiative. And five shoppers won special prizes for using their own bags.

Cllr Turner has also started a petition against plastic give-away bags on the 10 Downing Street website which he is encouraging people to sign at http://petitions.pm.gov.uk/nomore freebags/

The third and final bag-ban day in Newmarket will be on Sunday, June 1.

Support but no cash for world status bid

A BID for World Heritage Site status for Newmarket could still go ahead even though it is not on the Government's current list of tentative sites.

The town council has agreed in principle to support a bid. But the council has also said that it cannot commit any money towards the process, which could cost more than £200,000.

The idea of going for World Heritage status for the town, as the historic birthplace of horseracing, has been under consideration for a number of years.

A meeting at the National Horseracing Museum earlier this year had revived interest, although initial indications are that it could take years to achieve recognition and could be a costly process.

BY John Goode

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

Town councillor Richard Fletcher told a meeting of the council that achieving World Heritage status could bring "significant benefits".

He has agreed to monitor the situation and liaise with Graham Snelling, curator and acting director of the National Horseracing Museum in Newmarket, who called a meeting in February to discuss the idea.

There are currently 17 potential sites on the "tentative" list for the UK. They include the Lake District, the New Forest, Shakespeare's Stratford and The Wash and North Norfolk Coast.

But Cllr Fletcher said he had contacted the Department for Culture, Media and Sport (DCMS) and learned that the Government was taking "a broader look" at its policy on World Heritage and could allow new names to join the tentative list.

The Government has commissioned a study on the possible costs and benefits of World Heritage status for wide consultation.

But the DCMS warned that the process of developing a nomination would be long and costly with no guarantee of success.

In a report to the council, Cllr Fletcher said the DCMS suggested that "bid partnerships" would need to consider carefully whether they could achieve the "perceived advantages" of World Heritage status in other ways.

Bids for heritage status need Government backing before they are passed on to UNESCO, the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organisation.

American vehicles targeted

TWO American vehicles have been broken into while parked near the Mildenhall US Air Force base.

A man was caught inside a silver Pontiac car in the driveway of a house at Oak Drive, Beck Row, just after 2.15am on Saturday, April 26.

The man, described as in his late teens or early 20s, ran off and nothing was stolen, although damage was caused to the car.

He was described as slim, about 5ft 10in tall with brown hair. He was wearing a white sweatshirt, white jogging bottoms and white trainers.

Satellite navigation equipment was stolen from a white Chevrolet Silv pick-up parked in Aspal Lane, Beck Row, between 6pm on Sunday April 27, and 6.15am the following day.

Anyone with information should call Mildenhall police (01284) 774100.

New pizza outlet

PIZZA chain Domino's is set to open a new takeaway and delivery branch in Newmarket.

The company is due to take over the former Gannets coffee shop and restaurant which closed down about a year ago.

Domino's has submitted planning applications to Forest Heath District Council for changes to the building, on the town's Market Square in part of the Guineas shopping centre, and advertising displays.

The company is set to employ the equivalent of 10 full-time staff, but a number of the employees will be part-time.

Domino's is proposing that the new outlet will be open between 9am and midnight on weekdays with 1am closing on Saturdays and 11pm on Sundays.

More flights for USAF jets

AMERICAN fighter jets were involved in additional training flights from the Lakenheath base.

The F-15 fighter planes started the extra flights on Tuesday and were continuing until today.

A base spokeswoman said the extra flights were testing the base's capabilities and readiness for NATO operations.

Some of the base's aircraft and personnel are currently operating in the Iraq and Afghanistan region.

Petition opposes 'stacking' plans

BY John Goode

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

OPPOSITION is growing to plans which could see airliners circling over an area south of Newmarket as they wait to land at Stansted Airport.

A petition has been launched against the National Air Traffic Services (NATS) plan to establish a new "stacking zone" near the town.

Racehorse industry leaders are opposed to the scheme, which could affect stud farms – including the thousands of acres occupied by leading racehorse owner Sheikh Mohammed's Darley horse breeding operation.

Forest Heath District Council and Newmarket Town Council are also opposing the new flightpath zones.

The council has started a petition which is available for signing at the tourist information centre in Palace House, Newmarket, and the council's office in the town's Guineas shopping centre.

Cllr Geoffrey Jaggard, district council leader and a member of the town council, said: "We share the concerns of the town and racehorse industry and want to help by enabling objectors to sign petitions in the town centre.

"We will deliver the petitions to NATS with our objection to this proposal."

Cllr Richard Fletcher told the town council: "Newmarket will be placed at the centre of a busy aircraft corridor with a holding area over stud land south of the town.

"It could drive racehorse trainers and breeders away from this area and out of the country, with disastrous effects on the economy of the town."

Cllr Mick Jefferys said: "We do have quite a lot of military air traffic in the area which could pose a danger to stacking aircraft."

The town council voted unanimously to oppose the NATS plans.

The consultation period ends on May 22 and the Civil Aviation Authority will then decide whether the new zones should be allowed.

If the answer is yes, the changes could be introduced next spring.

Only one chance for free compost

FREE compost made from recycled garden and kitchen waste collected from homes and recycling sites will be available as part of national Compost Awareness Week.

But the only location in the Forest Heath district that the soil improver will be available is at the Mildenhall recycling centre in Brandon Road, Mildenhall, between 9am and 2pm today.

Last year compost was available at the Newmarket recycling site as well and the free compost day was a Saturday.

Visitors to the Mildenhall depot will also have the chance to buy a discounted compost bin to make their own compost at home.

For more information on compost bins visit: www.recyclenow.com/compost or call 0845 0770757 for more details.

The white Ford Transit van, registration ND07 BUV, was taken from Skeltons Drove, Kenny Hill, at around 12.45pm on Wednesday, April 23.

The van, which had the company name Morgan Est in purple and black on the sides and red ladders on the roof rack, was seen being driven off at speed towards the Cambridgeshire border.

Anyone with information should call Pc Emily Bean at Mildenhall police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

'Desperate need' for hall in town

SOHAM desperately needs a modern meeting place with space for up to 180 people, according to planning experts.

Researchers Celia Dickinson and Gill Robinson made their recommendations at Soham Town Council's annual meeting last week after a three-month audit of the town's community facilities.

Councillors and residents were told there were 30 meeting places in Soham, but none could provide space for larger groups of between 70 to 150 people.

The two venues which previously provided space for larger functions – Soham Lodge Hotel and St Andrew's Church Hall – have both closed.

The future of the hotel remains in doubt after it closed suddenly last month, while leading campaigners fighting the loss of the church hall have admitted defeat after developers submitted plans last month to turn it into 13 homes.

BY Jack Grove
Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

Peggy Gibbon, who is campaigning for a new hall, said: "There is a great need in Soham for a new community hall, either in the town centre or the recreation ground, perhaps adjacent to the pavilion.

"It should have a main hall with a stage, two further small rooms, to be used as dressing rooms or meeting rooms, and a kitchen and bar. The Guides and Scouts could meet there.

"Soham has lost three public halls to housing development, The Central Hall in Fountain Lane, The Conservative Hall in White Hart Lane and The Liberal Hall in Station Road.

"St Andrews Church Hall was well used in the early days by the Sunday school, the WI, amateur dramatic groups and, until 1997, it was still used by youth clubs and for jumble sales, bazaars and a much-needed mini-market with shoes, clothing and carpet sales.

"Residents feel the sale of the hall took the very heart out of Soham and asked why its renovation was not put forward for Millennium Money and why the Town Council did not ask for a grant from East Cambridgeshire District Council."

However, the recent survey found that small groups of up to 30 people and medium-sized groups up to 70 were able to book a facility easily at a reasonable cost.

The 140 residents interviewed felt that although 12 of the 25 halls were of a good standard, there were a number of older buildings which needed improving and modernising.

Existing facilities will now be encouraged to make improvements with the aim of achieving the Hallmark Quality Standard, a scheme used to measure the quality of village halls.

Soham Town Council will look at the report and take the findings into consideration.

Firm is hit with TV chef's show

TOP chef Gordon Ramsay will be using kitchen containers supplied by a Mildenhall company in his latest F Word series on Channel 4 Television.

The production company behind the show, which starts its fourth series on Tuesday, contacted AKRO Catering Equipment and Hygiene Supplies for the Gastronorm containers in various sizes.

Kelvin Phillips, managing director of AKRO, said: "It's not the first time we've been on the F Word.

"We supplied red chopping boards for the last series – so the production company, Optomen, already knew us."

AKRO has also supplied catering equipment for television's Celebrity Big Brother and featured on Kitchen Nightmares.

But Mr Phillips and his team have not met Gordon Ramsay or any of the other celebrities on the show.

High note for new chief

FORMER music company boss Simon Bazalgette has been appointed chief executive of the Jockey Club, which owns the racecourses at Newmarket and Huntingdon.

Mr Bazalgette, 46, is currently executive chairman of Racing UK, the media rights company and TV channel owned by 30 British racecourses, and chairman of Racecourse Media Services.

He was a founder director and chief executive of Music Choice Europe Plc.

The Jockey Club, which also owns the National Stud at Newmarket as well as thousands of acres of gallops and training grounds around the town, has not previously had a chief executive.

Mr Bazalgette is expected to take up his new role in September.

His job will include chairing the board of Jockey Club Racecourses, ensuring maximum value is obtained from the group's commercial and media rights, promoting the role of The Jockey Club in the public arena, and developing relationships with key players in the racing and betting industries.

In our weekly column, reporter JOHN GOODE takes a look behind the racing scene to bring you news from in and around the stables.

Former cricketer's insight into people at home of horseracing

FORMER cricketer John Carter signed copies of his book featuring some of the best, and least, known personalities from the world of horseracing. Newmarket, a year at the home of horseracing, features jockeys including Frankie Dettori and Hayley Turner as well as stable workers Danni Deverson and Mark O'Reilly.

The Norfolk-based writer shadowed his subjects last year for the book which he signed at Tindall's bookshop in Newmarket High Street on the day of the 2000 Guineas race.

The book, which includes photographs by Trevor Jones, who is also featured in the book, is published by SportsBooks priced £19.99.

The Gross rate is the contractual rate of interest payable before deduction of income tax at the rate specified by law (currently 20%).

The Net rate is the rate paid after income tax has been deducted (currently 20%).

The Annual Equivalent Rate (AER) is a notional rate which illustrates what the gross interest rate would be if interest was paid and added to the account annually. AERs on an account which pays monthly interest assumes interest is added to the account at the end of each month during the year. In practice, the option to have interest added in this way is not available on our Hallmark monthly interest option.

The Tax-free rate is the contractual rate of interest payable where interest is exempt from income tax.

All the above rates are variable. Cash Individual Savings Accounts (ISAs), and Cash Child Trust Fund accounts, pay interest tax-free provided all terms and conditions of the account types are met. On all other accounts, interest will be paid at the net rate after the appropriate rate of income tax (currently 20%) has been deducted, or gross on receipt of the required declaration form. Where interest is paid net, the income tax may be reclaimed if the amount deducted exceeds the investor's tax liability. Higher rate taxpayers will have to pay the extra due (the difference between tax deducted at 20% and the higher rate of 40%). Tax assumptions are based on current legislation which may change in the future. Net rates are illustrative only and have been rounded to two decimal places. Full terms and conditions are available from all our branches. Cambridge Building Society complies with The Banking Code.

NOTICE TO EXISTING BORROWERS

With effect from 8th May 2008, the rate of interest for mortgages will decrease by 0.15% per annum until further notice. The revised Variable Home Loan Rate (equivalent to Standard Variable Rate) will be 6.30% p.a. The revised Commercial Base Rate, for non owner-occupied residential loans, will be 6.80% p.a. Under the annual review system, this change of interest will be reflected in the revised monthly payments effective from March 2009.

This notice does not apply to any mortgage account operated by interim review. Those borrowers will be notified separately.

Police in appeal for witnesses to crash

POLICE want to trace two lorry drivers who may have witnessed a crash which left a driver in hospital with serious injuries.

The injured man, believed to be in his 50s, was driving a blue Renault Espace which was in a collision with a white lorry on the A14 at Higham, near Newmarket, at around 3pm on Tuesday, April 29.

Fire crews used cutting gear to free him from the wreckage and he was taken to West Suffolk Hospital, Bury St Edmunds.

A 12-year-old boy who was a passenger in the vehicle was also taken to hospital.

The collision is reported to have taken place in a lay-by.

Police want to trace the lorry drivers who were in the area at the time.

The drivers, and anyone else with information, should call Pc David Shaw at the Bury St Edmunds roads policing unit on (01284) 774100.

Lorry park plan revs up

A NEW lorry park and truckers' café is planned to stop the problems of overnight parking in residential areas.

Landowner Upton Suffolk Farms has proposed building the new truck stop at Red Lodge, near Newmarket.

The village has been a popular stop-over for lorry drivers for years. An unofficial truck stop grew up opposite the village's transport café when the A11 passed through the village.

Even though the village has now been by-passed, drivers still use it for overnight parking which has led to complaints from residents.

The farm company has held a public exhibition of its plans and has claimed that a majority of villagers want to see the truck stop moved.

The new site would be on the opposite side of the A11 from the village, in about 15 acres of land just north of Elms Road and the Red Lodge exit slip-road from the A11.

Hugo Upton, of Upton Suffolk Farms, said: "The exhibition was an excellent opportunity to meet fellow residents of Red Lodge and discuss our plans with them.

"The response we had was overwhelmingly positive and this is reflected in the outcome of the questionnaires.

"We will be submitting our planning application to Forest Heath District Council in the coming weeks and sincerely hope the plans can move ahead as quickly as the residents clearly want."

The truck stop would provide drivers' facilities in a single storey building including a café, WCs and showers, and an internet access room. The lorry park would provide parking for 73 lorries, 17 cars and cycle parking, and would have security lights and fencing.

Mr Upton said: "The new site is the only piece of land available in the area for an immediately implementable and viable development which can deliver new premises for the existing business, much needed relief for the village and help towards the regeneration of Turnpike Road – something many people at the exhibition identified as essential for Red Lodge."

A formal planning application is due to be submitted to Forest Heath District Council. If approval is given, development could start next year.

Lorraine Webster-Ward, who owns the Red Lodge Café with her sister, said: "Although we said we were interested in the new truck-stop, we have not committed ourselves to moving there. Nothing has been finalised."

Transport police face sharp rise in crime at rail stations

CRIME has soared in train stations across the region.

The most startling statistic, according to figures released to our sister paper, the Cambridge Evening News, was drug-related crime at Cambridge rail station, which rose dramatically in the past two years. from three in 2006 to 74 in 2007.

The crime figures released by the British Transport Police showed that overall the number of offences had increased from 189 crimes in 2006, to 299 in 2007.

Police blamed the high figure on last year's Strawberry Fair, which is due to take place in the city again on June 7.

Chief Inspector Rob Noddings, from the British Transport Police, said: "In the case of figures for Cambridge, the large rise in the number of drugs offences can be attributed mainly to the British Transport Police's proactive drugs operation, which was carried out at last year's Strawberry Fair.

"More than 60 arrests were made for drugs offences, mainly for the possession of Class C drugs.

"We of course want everyone to enjoy themselves at the fair and one of the best ways to travel to the event is by train.

"If, however, there are people who are intent on taking part in illegal drugs activity this year, or in any other sort of disorder, the message is that police will be there to stop them."

BY Rebecca Findley

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

Cambridge city councillor Kevin Blencowe believed the Strawberry Fair and The Big Day Out, which takes place in Cambridge in July, played a part in the increase.

But he also admitted there was an antisocial behaviour problem in the Petersfield ward, in which Cambridge station is located.

He said: "Drug dealing in the city centre is going on and the police are trying to tackle it with the resources they've got."

Cllr Blencowe added: "It's a matter for the transport police, Cambridgeshire police and the city council to work together to reduce it."

The safety of train stations also concerned commuters.

Liz Eardley, 28, lives in Paris, but travels to Cambridge and Royston regularly using the trains.

She said: "In the daytime I feel safe, but I'm not sure about night.

"Royston is quieter and I feel safer at Cambridge because it's a huge station and there are more people around, but I am concerned in general about travelling as a female on my own in the evening."

■ ON ALERT . . . members of the British Transport Police search passengers at Cambridge Railway Station, and right, Cllr Kevin Blencowe.

Commuters across the county are faced with rising station crime figures, with vehicle and cycle crimes making up the greatest number of offences at Ely and Royston.

These types of offences have also risen in Cambridge over the same period, from 122 to 175.

In Ely, overall crime increased from 23 in 2006 to 32 in 2007.

Figures in Huntingdon showed a small rise of 35 to 39.

In St Neots there was a drop, from 40 crimes in 2006, to 34 in 2007, but last year's figure is still higher than the 14 crimes recorded in 2005.

Newmarket and Royston also had higher figures than in previous years.

At Newmarket overall crime increased from three reported incidents in 2006, to six in 2007.

At Royston the number of offences rose from six crimes in 2005 to 19 in 2006 and 2007.

A spokesman for the British Transport Police said: "Crime statistics are not always accurate indicators of levels of crime and should always be viewed in context."

DINING GUIDE

Healthy ideas for feeding children

PARENTS are always feeling guilty.

These days not only do we worry about feeding our children the right food, while they are bombarded with an onslaught of unhealthy horrors through both advertising and peer pressure, but also – especially when both parents are holding down busy jobs – it's too easy just to pop a ready meal in the microwave.

Now, however, two busy women, Angela Nilsen and Jeni Wright, have come to the rescue by collecting together 101 Recipes For Kids in a new book, from BBC GoodFood.

Tried and tested, the recipes include familiar favourites such as banana splits and fairy cakes as well as introducing more exotic dishes to tempt modern young palates such as Chinese egg-fried rice and Mexican tortilla wraps.

Angela says: "Temptation is all around – so it's easy for kids to end up eating too many high fat, high sugar, high salt, high additive, ready made snacks and meals, especially when parents feel they don't always have time to pay as much attention as they would like to what the children are eating.

"But start young by offering children a good balance and a variety of healthy foods. Get the children involved in the choosing and shopping so they are aware of what they are eating. Then make time to eat and share each meal.

She adds: "If you let children help with the cooking, introduce them to the raw ingredients and how to prepare them, you are empowering them for life. They will not have to rely on ready meals and by being involved with meal preparation their acquired understanding will give them the confidence to make healthier choices."

Co-author Jeni says: "With this book you'll never be stuck for ideas when your children say, 'we're starving! What can we eat?'

"Many of these recipes can be made by the children themselves with or without a little adult help and they've all been tried and tested on kids."

Try this recipe for sausage pasta salad – just one of the superb savoury choices from the book and packed with slow release carbohydrates.

Sausage Pasta Salad

(Serves two) Nutrition per portion: 244 calories, protein 8.6g, carbohydrate 36.1g, fat 8.3g, saturated fat 2.3g, fibre 1.8g, sugar 2.4g, salt 0.95g

2 chipolata sausages
85g/3oz dried fusilli or other short pasta shape
2tsp olive oil
2 cherry tomatoes, cut into wedges
2 spring onions, finely chopped
2tbsp home-made or ready-made tomato salsa

1. Heat the grill to high and grill the sausages for about 15 minutes or until cooked through, turning them occasionally. Leave to cool then slice into bite-sized pieces.
2. Cook the pasta in a pan of boiling water for 8-10 minutes or according to the packet instructions, until tender. Drain into a sieve and hold under the cold tap till cool.
3. Shake the pasta well to remove excess water, then tip into a bowl and stir in the oil to prevent the shapes sticking together. Mix in the sausages, tomatoes, onions and salsa. Taste for seasoning.

DINING GUIDE

Salad days here again

ALFRESCO dining and stress-free salads are the perfect way to say "hello" to summer.

Celebrate the start of the season by lifting your big salad bowl out of the cupboard and creating your own delicious recipes.

Harry Eastwood and Sophie Michell, the two fab foodies from Channel 4 show Cook Yourself Thin, have launched a competition to find the Great British Salad.

"The French have the Nicoise, the Americans have the Waldorf and the Mexicans have the Caesar," says Sophie. "It's about time we Brits celebrated our tremendous variety of fresh produce and cooking creativity and invented the Great British Salad. For too long, people all over the country have been serving up shredded iceberg, half a cucumber and a bit of tomato to their families.

"But there's simply no excuse for this boring dish when you have such a fantastic range of salad leaves and local ingredients available to you."

According to Sophie, the key to a great salad is fresh, quality produce and not being afraid to mix and match flavours and textures.

To get you in the mood for salad days try the recipe below from a new book, Much Depends on Dinner, A Year in the Telegraph Kitchen.

■ For information on how to enter the Great British Salad Search and receive a cash price of £1,000, go to www.salad-recipes.co.uk. Entries must be received by July 31, 2008. Much Depends on Dinner, A Year in the Telegraph Kitchen, edited by Carolyn Hart, is available to buy, now priced £20.

Fresh goat's cheese and beetroot salad with red wine vinegar and walnut vinaigrette.

(Serves two)
1 large whole raw beetroot
1tsp olive oil for roasting the beetroot
1 slice of goat's cheese (about 80g)
1 small red onion, very thinly sliced
1 handful of mint, chervil and basil sprigs
2tbsp walnut halves, dry-roasted in a pan
3tbsp extra-virgin olive oil
2tbsp red wine vinegar, preferably cabernet sauvignon
Freshly ground black pepper and sea salt

Preheat the oven to 200C/Gas Mark 6. Wash the beetroot, but do not trim off the point or stalk or it will "bleed" as it cooks. Rub with a little olive oil and cover with foil. Place in the oven for 30 minutes then remove the foil. Roast for a further 10 to 15 minutes until tender when pierced with a knife (reduce the cooking time by 10 minutes if using small beetroot). Set aside to cool.

Cut the cheese into 2x1cm sticks. Slice the beetroot and divide between two plates. Put the cheese, onion, herbs, walnuts, extra-virgin olive oil and vinegar in a bowl and mix gently, but well. Put equal amounts on to the plate with the beetroot, season with sea salt, grind over some black pepper and serve.

50-50 split as road toll scheme divides opinion

BY Rachel Extance
Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

NEARLY 60 per cent of people were against the principle of congestion charging, according to a survey by our sister paper.

As Cambridgeshire County Council prepares to unveil the results of its public consultation, the Cambridge Evening News found most respondents opposed charging in principle, 57 per cent did not believe everyone should pay the same and just 37 per cent thought a charge of £3 or £5 between 7.30am and 9.30am Monday to Friday in Cambridge would have "some effect" on traffic.

However when asked to what extent people would support congestion charging in Cambridge if it was only introduced between 7.30am and 9.30am Monday to Friday in the city, the number opposed fell to 50 per cent.

And if all revenues raised through the charge were spent on improving transport across Cambridgeshire, approval for a charge increased to 48 per cent, with 13 per cent undecided.

■ ROAD TO NOWHERE . . . morning rush-hour traffic jams such as this one have convinced Cllr Roy Pegram and county council chief executive Mark Lloyd that doing nothing to reduce congestion 'is not an option'.

When the question was changed so it asked how far people would support a congestion charge if attractive alternatives were in place for travelling in Cambridge, those in favour went up to 60 per cent.

This was backed up by 70 per cent who said they would use the car less if attractive alternatives were in place.

Cambridgeshire County Council is bidding for £500 million of Government cash for transport improvements but will only get the money if it introduces congestion charging in Cambridge.

Out of the 180 people who completed the News survey, 70 lived in the city and 84 in South Cambridgeshire, 63 per cent listed "car" as their main method of travel, 44 per cent travelled in daily and 37 per cent usually travelled in the city between 6.30am and 9.29am – the time a toll could be introduced.

Just 5 per cent of respondents said they travelled on foot, 22 per cent rode a bike and 23 per cent took buses, including Park and Ride.

When it came to congestion levels, 20 per cent admitted it was a very serious issue and 43 per cent said it was "serious" but only 37 per cent said they could be persuaded to reduce their car use if it helped ease the jams.

Mark Lloyd, chief executive of Cambridgeshire County Council, said: "One thing we do know is that we have to do something.

"Even if we don't pursue the Transport Innovation Fund we have to have a plan B."

Cllr Roy Pegram, deputy leader of Cambridgeshire County Council, said: "The results of the survey are very interesting – 63 per cent of people think congestion is a serious problem and this is important because it underlines why tackling congestion must be a key priority for the county council.

"It's also encouraging to see that 59 per cent support congestion charging in Cambridge if attractive alternatives are in place for travelling in Cambridge.

"Putting these attractive alternatives in place before a charge is introduced has always been a central part of our proposals. Having said that, we are still not in a position to commit to any sort of charge yet."

School run gets blamed

SCHOOL run traffic is being blamed for causing most of the jams in Cambridge.

Parents dropping their children off at school was cited as the main problem by people responding to the Cambridge Evening News' congestion charging survey who claimed traffic levels were much lower out of term time. Many said if school buses ran from Park and Ride sites, congestion would go down.

- 45 per cent of respondents strongly opposed the principle of congestion charging.
- 13 per cent tended to oppose the principle of congestion charging.
- 57 per cent did not think everyone should pay the same amount for a charge.
- 53 per cent of people believed congestion levels in Cambridge stayed the same during the past 12 months.
- 8 per cent thought a £3 charge during morning peak times would have "a great deal of effect" on reducing congestion.
- 23 per cent believed a £5 charge would have a great deal of effect.
- 47 per cent said it would cost them more.
- 25 per cent said congestion charging would not affect them.
- 8 per cent believed it would improve their journeys.

Woman cabbie may never recover from sex assault

A WOMAN taxi driver has told a court that she may never recover from the ordeal of being sexually assaulted by a passenger.

The attack happened after the woman picked up two men in Newmarket High Street in the early hours of the morning.

One of the men, later identified as Stephen Cross, 28, tried to grab her breasts as she was driving and made sexual suggestions and threats after moving from the back seat to the front passenger seat, Ipswich Crown Court heard.

Cross, of Beetons Way, Bury St Edmunds, was sentenced at crown court after being found guilty of sexual assault by a district judge sitting at magistrates' court.

He had admitted making off without paying the £25 taxi fare.

The woman told the crown court that she didn't leave her home in the Newmarket area for two weeks after the incident.

She said: "I never used to be frightened of anyone. I tried to see the good in people. He has ruined all that. I don't know if I can get over this."

Sentencing Cross to 12 months in prison, suspended for two years, Mr Recorder Richard Atchley told him: "Your behaviour in that car has intruded in that woman's life not for minutes, not for hours, not for days but possibly the rest of her life."

He also banned Cross from going within 10 miles of Newmarket and from having any contact with the victim, who was awarded £1,000 compensation.

Cross was also ordered to be supervised by the probation service for two years, to do 100 hours unpaid community service and undertake courses to address his behaviour and drinking.

In addition, he will be on the sex offenders' register for 10 years and was ordered to pay the £25 taxi fare.

Ian Pells, prosecuting, said Cross was arrested after the incident, which happened after 3.30am on September 2, when the taxi driver showed police footage from her in-car CCTV camera.

Lindsay Cox, defence barrister, told the court that Cross had consumed 10 drinks that night. He said Cross had lost his job as a golf club chef as a result of his arrest.

Gloria survives to inspire a new era

By Nik Shelton

IT WAS 30 years ago that Gloria Gaynor released her most enduring hit, I Will Survive, but she had no idea at the time that it would prove so prophetic.

In the 1970s, disco emerged in the nightclubs of New York to become the first musical genre ever to unite black and white, rich and poor and gay and straight communities side by side on the dancefloor. But despite the massive popularity of hitmakers like Gaynor, Chic, The Bee Gees, Donna Summer among others, by the end of the decade it was already being written off by some.

The backlash by rock fans was so intense that on July 12, 1979 – what many pop historians have come to call "The Day Disco Died" – anti-disco riots erupted in Chicago and almost overnight the music was wiped off the playlists of many American radio stations to make way for the emerging sounds of the punk and new wave revolution.

But despite being in the doldrums, the music went on to inspire house music and hip hop and was eventually revived unscathed in the late 90s to provide sublime slices of chart gold like Kylie's Spinning Around, S Club 7's Don't Stop Movin' and Spiller's Groovejet.

■ STILL GOING STRONG . . . Gloria Gaynor. CP.

Through all this Gaynor has survived and is still packing in the crowds across the world.

"It feels unbelievable. When you're that age you don't think 30 years ahead. I was definitely a completely different person. I started out in clubs and then as discos began to crop up I began working in them."

Having been involved in the disco scene from the very early days she has a clear idea why it caused such a stir at the time.

"It was one of the few genres of music that was consistently positive," she says. "I think it's had an influence on today's music, young people are constantly sampling it. I always thought disco music was the first and only music that has crossed every barrier – age, race, nationality – any kind of barrier you can imagine, disco music has crossed it and brought all of those people together."

I Will Survive was originally released in 1978 as a B-side to Gloria's single Substitute but after several months of heavy play in clubs by DJs it was re-released as an A-Side and hit number one in both the US and the UK in March 1979 going on to become a defining track of the era.

"I never get tired of it," Gloria says. "I love singing it, it's one song I know I'm going to get a positive response to. I know that I'm giving the people something they can take beyond the hour or two that the show lasts. That's very rewarding and I get a real kick out of it."

Gloria Gaynor plays the Cambridge Corn Exchange on Monday, May 19, at 7.30pm. Tickets are £35. To book call (01223) 357851.

YOUR GUIDE TO MOVING HOME

1 Moving home can be a complicated business and, in the hectic run to the big day, it is all too easy to forget something vital. The Property News offers their readers this handy checklist that should help avoid major pitfalls. We suggest you tick off the items as you deal with them...

WITH FOUR WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Get estimates from removal companies, checking that comprehensive insurance cover is available against damage or loss. Is there a packing and unpacking service? Confirm the date of your move with the firm you have chosen.
- ☐ Check on your home contents insurance policies to ensure that you are covered for the move, and covered at your new address.
- ☐ Make arrangements for your gas and electricity meters (plus water meters where relevant) to be read and all your appliances to be disconnected on the day of your move.
- ☐ Arrange to take over gas and electricity at your new address, and make sure that all appliances will be properly fitted, plumbed or connected.
- ☐ Notify British Telecom and ask them to make the necessary arrangements for a final account at your present address, and for taking over or installing telephone facilities at your new home.
- ☐ Arrange for change of address cards to be printed.

WITH TWO WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Confirm all arrangements, times etc, for meter readings, disconnections and reconnections, with authorities and with your buyer and seller.
- ☐ Make sure you have a good stock of packing materials, including sturdy boxes and plenty of string and sticky tape.
- ☐ Begin to throw out unwanted items from attics, wardrobes. What you really don't want you may as well dump now, or send to charity. It's a great time for a good sort out!

WITH ONE WEEK TO GO:

- ☐ Send off change of address cards.
- ☐ Arrange and pay for automatic redirection of your mail by the Post Office.
- ☐ Cancel and pay up accounts for routine delivery services such as milk, groceries, fuel and your Cambridge Evening News. Re-organise these deliveries for your new address.
- ☐ Defrost refrigerators in preparation for move and, if you are moving a freezer and its contents, turn it up to maximum for a couple of days before you move.

WITH ONE DAY TO GO:

- ☐ Complete your packing except for those items you are likely to need overnight, and prepare a picnic for moving day.
- ☐ Have a large enough cash 'float' available to deal with unexpected expenses, and make sure you have collected documents and valuables together in a safe place.
- ☐ Cover carpets which are being left behind, so as to minimise damage during furniture removal.
- ☐ Check through previous lists to make sure nothing has been overlooked, then enjoy a worry-free early night!

2 ON MOVING DAY:

- ☐ Strip beds and pack bedding and nightclothes.
- ☐ Pack items for washing/toiletries.
- ☐ Take down curtains.
- ☐ Take up rugs, carpets, floor coverings, as required.
- ☐ Dismantle any light fittings etc., not included in the sale.
- ☐ Turn off electric appliances.
- ☐ Disconnect cooker.
- ☐ Turn off boiler/central heating.
- ☐ Turn off water.
- ☐ Read gas meter.
- ☐ Read electricity meter.
- ☐ Secure all windows.
- ☐ Lock all doors.
- ☐ Leave key as arranged with new owners.
- ☐ On arrival at your new home, unpack slowly and methodically so that you can check for loss or damage.

3 EXTRA HINTS FOR A SMOOTH MOVE...

WHO TO NOTIFY:

- ☐ Banks.
- ☐ Building Societies.
- ☐ Credit companies.
- ☐ Insurance companies.
- ☐ Gas, Electricity and Water Boards.
- ☐ Telephone company.
- ☐ Local Authority (Rating Department).
- ☐ Driving Licence authorities.
- ☐ Inland Revenue.
- ☐ Store cards and accounts.
- ☐ Other lease, hire or rental companies.
- ☐ Employer.
- ☐ Doctor.
- ☐ Dentist.

Astons getting set for Le Mans

ASTON Martin Racing is gearing up for this year's Le Mans and the racing arm of the Gaydon-based marque is aiming for its second successive class victory.
The most obvious difference since last year's win is its change in colour scheme. Moving away from British Racing Green, Aston Martin, one of the most famous names in sportscar racing has teamed up with another – Gulf. The stylish Aston Martin DBR9 will be flying down the Mulsanne Straight in the evocative pale blue and orange of the fuel brand, colours made famous by adorning classic Le Mans cars such as the Ford GT40 and the Porsche 917. As George Howard-Chappell, Aston Martin Racing team principal, says: "Le Mans . . . Gulf . . . Aston Martin, they're meant for one another."
The car looks fantastic but Le Mans is much more than just looking good. The legendary 24 hour race is one of the ultimate tests of endurance and fortunately, the DBR9 seems to have kept its pace from last year – or so the testing at Paul Ricard circuit indicates.
Another change to the team is in the driver line-up. Former Formula 1 driver Heinz Harold Frentzen has joined the team for this year's race. He joins David Brabham and Darren Turner to pilot the two-car entry.
Aston Martin Racing has also revealed the first official pictures of the Vantage GT2, which will make its race debut with James Watts Automotive at the first round of the Le Mans Series at Barcelona on April 5.
The Vantage GT2 is latest racing car from Aston Martin Racing and completes its portfolio of GT cars in each of the four categories GT1, GT2, GT3, GT4.
The Vantage GT2 has been designed to run on both standard and E85 bio-ethanol fuel.

■ STRIKING . . . the Aston Martins set for Le Mans in their new livery.

A3 Cabrio fills niche well

RODNEY TIBBS

SOMEONE, somewhere just has to benefit from global warming and it looks like being the makers of open top cars.

Top of the range cabriolet sales have risen from 6,000 a year in 2003 to more than 20,000 in 2007.

Carcraft, one of the UK's larger used car hypermarket chains, reports a 33 per cent increase in the volume of convertibles sold between 2006 and 2007, meaning that they now account for almost five per cent of its total used car sales.

Audi's overall sales have risen from 0.6 per cent of the UK market in 1991 to 4.53 in 2007, so I think we can safely say it is doing nicely, thank you very much.

It should go on to do even better if the new Audi A3 cabriolet is anything to go by. The car is technically on sale now, but first models arrive at the dealerships around May 10. Many orders have already come in because this is a car which has been cleverly tailored into its own niche market.

■ INTERIOR . . . a great place to be in.

A useful four-seater, it can whip its hood up and down much faster than the opposition. You can have the sun pouring in with the operation completed in nine seconds, and it can be done at speeds up to 19mph. It will sell to high-income multi-vehicle drivers in the 30 to 39 age group, says Audi. A third will be women with a high level of education and income and a third will have children under the age of 18. You might suggest these are people with more money than sense who are more likely to enjoy global warming than defeat it and your argument would be underpinned by the startling disclosure that the cabriolet will become a SECOND VEHICLE for many wives!

The engine range is generous with two petrols and two diesels.

■ TOP-DOWN MOTORING . . . and the Audi A3 Cabriolet has a practical aspect too!

The petrol engines are of 1.8 and 2.0-litre capacity while the diesels are very similar with 1.9 and 2.0 litres. Audi did not have diesels available when the car was introduced in the south of France but the petrol 1.8 proved a winner, delivering acres of smooth power on deserted winding roads.

Both automatic and manual gearboxes are available and frankly if I were a wealthy mum heading off for the school run I would go for the automatic every time. You can do paddle changes if you are really keen but most will let it get on with it as a background operation.

You cannot deny the A3 cabrio is a head-turner. There are no signs that it has extensive reinforcement to compensate for the missing roof and on the road it proved satisfyingly solid. Trim levels come as Standard, Sport and S Line and prices run from £22,300 for a bog standard Standard up to £26,160 for the top of the range diesel S Line.

BASICALLY. . .

A very stylish cabriolet from which to watch the globe warm itself. Top-down conditions are sheltered and calm and there is even generous luggage space at the rear to complement the four-seat interior.

Forecourts lose out

WITH fuel costs spiralling across the region, the Petrol Retailers Association has defended its members against charges that pump prices are too high.

"While oil companies announced high profits most forecourt retailers sold fuel at a loss, and this is not an unusual situation for them," said Ray Holloway, director of the RMI Petrol Retailers Association (PRA), commenting on the price of fuel and its impact on the future viability of the forecourt sector.

Holloway continued: "The issues of supply at Grangemouth thrust the issue of fuel pricing back onto the front pages, but the actual prices were not directly affected by that situation. Prices were rising already for retailers and motorists alike as a result of annual recurring high summer demand for oil."

BP and Shell are international oil companies. The firms claim that most of their profits are the result of oil exploration activities abroad. The oil industry deems this to be a separate business to the UK forecourt retail sector.

Holloway explains: "Most of the sites in the UK branded BP or Shell are actually independent retailers. They work in a challenging business area, with high costs and very low returns. Most are kept afloat by the shop attached to their site.

"For many, these numbers are unsustainable and they are being forced to close in increasing numbers. Around 300 filling stations shut down every year, and motorists are now noticing gaps in fuel availability, and if it gets worse as expected, they will certainly be inconvenienced when searching for a forecourt in some areas."

There are around 9,200 forecourts in the UK, including supermarket filling stations. This is the lowest number of filling stations in the UK since 1912. Since the fuel protests in 2000, one-third of the filling stations open at the time have disappeared.

Holloway adds: "Oil company profits should not be confused with forecourt prosperity."

A great time to consider buying a used Audi TT

BUYING an Audi TT is always a cool thing to do, according to buyer advice website UsedCarExpert.com.

"It is like a BMW 3-Series or a Mini. Or an iPod. When you tell someone that is what you have bought, they never turn their noses up," says website spokesman Matt Tumbridge.

"I don't understand why," he adds. "It is a perfectly good car, but some days, it feels like everyone has one."

Tumbridge looks here at pricing for a second-hand TT, and also at those of a couple of overlooked competitors.

■ Audi TT Coupe and Roadster (1999-present): "The designer shape still turns heads, although there are loads around, including left-hand drive imports.

Prices are now down to almost sensible levels, and build quality remains a reassuring constant," he says.

Most economical model is the 1.8T 180, returning 31.7mpg overall, and best used buy is the 180 T Coupe, which offers better value, yet is still quick and marginally cheaper to run.

UsedCarExpert.com lists 12 pre-buy checks, and prices a year 2000 1.8T, with around 80,000 miles on the clock, at between £7,000 and £8,825.

■ Mazda RX8 (2004-present): "Utterly unique and highly sought-after, this is an excellent all-rounder," confirms Tumbridge. "It has just about been around long enough to depreciate, but newer models are still a little pricey."

Most economical model is the low-power version, returning 26.7mpg, while best used buy is the high-power variant.

There's 10 faults to look for listed by UsedCarExpert.com, which prices a 40,000-mile, year 2004 1.3 PS, at around £8,900 to £10,150.

■ Mercedes-Benz CLK (1997-present): Tumbridge says this is a large, comfortable, and stylish coupe. Pre-2002 models are becoming more affordable, he adds, although the cabriolet remains pricey.

Most economical model is the 200K, with its overall 32.8mpg figure, and best used buy is any pre-2002 230K version.

■ THE AUDI TT . . . still a headturner.

UsedCarExpert.com notes seven buyers' checks to look out for, and prices a year 2000 2.0 Sport, with no more than 75,000 miles under its belt, at between £5,800 to £7,300.

Figures reveal changing trends

A COMPLIATION of motoring-related statistics from the Institute of Advanced Motoring Trust was published last week.

■ In 2005-06, British households spent an average of £73.30 on motoring and travel compared with only £48.30 in 1984.

■ Car occupants travelled 678 billion kilometres in 2005 compared with just 58 billion kms in 1952 and 297 billion kms in 1970.

■ While an average of 325 walking journeys were made a year in the mid-1970s, this number had fallen to 249 in 2006.

■ Car drivers made an average of 430 car trips in 2006 compared with only 262 in the mid-1970s.

Healthy travel will aid battle against obesity

SEVENTY organisations last week called on politicians to invest 10 per cent of transport budgets on cycling and walking initiatives to fight obesity.

The groups, who include the Association of Directors of Public Health (ADPH), also want to see 20mph speed limits across all residential areas.

They are also calling for improved driver training, better-enforced traffic laws, and more cycle routes.

The organisations said that in 2006/07, spending on cycling in England amounted to 0.3 per cent of the transport budget and 0.4 per cent in Wales.

The groups believe significant investment now could help create a shift away from sedentary travel and have a huge impact on public health.

ADPH president Dr Tim Crayford said: "If we really want to see levels of obesity declining in the UK, we have to move on from the rhetoric. We need to see a visible investment in infrastructure that makes cycling and walking the travel modes of choice for people across the country.

Jones on fire to KO champs

WICKETKEEPER Daniel Jones struck a quickfire 50 to lead Burwell to a three-wicket win over defending champions March in the Tucker Gardner Cambs & Hunts Premier League, Division One.

The title-holders batted first and made a cracking start thanks to opening batsman Andrew Mills (87) and Andrew Devenish (35). The introduction of Adam Huckle (2 for 68) and former Zimbabwe international Grant Flower (3 for 49) halted their progress and March closed on 206 for 7.

Skipper Chris Ringham (4 for 36) had Burwell on the back foot from the off as he ripped through the top order and left them struggling on 89 for 4.

But Henry James made 35, Benjamin Cross added 21 and Jones reached his half-century from just 44 deliveries to lead his side to victory at 207 for 7.

■ James Holmes did his bit with bat and ball to help Mildenhall ease to a comfortable 120-run victory in their Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Division One opener at Halstead. Mildenhall were put in to bat, with Holmes seeing them through to 215 for 7 thanks to his 35 not out. He then took three wickets, as did Francois Bester, as the visitors rocked Halstead for just 95.

Skipper Matt Catley and David Monk shared an undefeated stand of 140 as Exning eased in by seven wickets in their Division Two game at home to Mistley.

Daniel Baigent took 4 for 26 as Mistley reached 179 for 9. In reply, Exning were in early trouble on 40 for 3 only for Catley (68 not out) and Monk (67 not out) to get them across the line at 180 for 3.

■ Warriors, who now share top spot in the Arab League with the Dragons and Marauders, looked certain to chalk up a third win when openers Reynolds and Kingdon added 26 but run-outs proved costly and it was left to Tom Jordan and Mark Diver to add 33 in 24 balls at the end. Marauders started badly but Toby Adams and Joe Nicolls calmed the nerves and, despite a sharp caught and bowled by Jordan, the Marauders wrapped up a narrow victory. The Raiders third defeat on the trot came after Ramsay and Beaumont got them back on track against Dragons. Five an over from the last eight overs was a respectable target but the Dragons stumbled, and although Karl Daly and Liam Ward started a rescue bid, Jordan Palmer and James Briars completed the win.

RACING

Masterful Murtagh navigates right path

■ GIMME FIVE . . . Jubilant Johnny Murtagh is greeted by Ballydoyle staff after Henrythenavigator's stunning win. Picture: Warren Gunn.

WIZARD started it all off in 1809, so it was appropriate that the NatWest Rowley Mile should produce a magical race in the 200th running of the 2000 Guineas at Newmarket.

Henrythenavigator produced an enchanting display to capture the opening Classic of the season in epic fashion.

But it was jockey Johnny Murtagh who cast the spell over the field with his ride on the Kingmambo colt, considered Ballydoyle's second string, to land trainer Aidan O'Brien's fifth victory in the race.

Long-time favourite New Approach, last year's European champion two-year-old, was beaten by a nose – the distance which was introduced last year – as he tried for his sixth successive victory.

Jim Bolger's superstar strode to the front after two furlongs but Henrythenavigator hovered at the back before Murtagh pressed the button and the Galileo colt surged through the field to set up a head-to-head battle for the line.

"Johnny was masterful on him," said O'Brien. "He played him to all his strengths."

Bolger professed that New Approach's time will come, and said: "I'm pleased with the way he travelled, and he was coming back at the winner at the end."

Stubbs Art, the 100-1 shot forced his way past Raven's Pass to snatch third spot, and his Newmarket trainer David Elsworth said: "He's lost a hind plate, but I don't know whether that's relevant. Part of us is pleased, but part of us is frustrated as well."

However, where New Approach failed, Natagora succeeded in the 1000 Guineas on Sunday.

Like the Irish raider, the French filly headed off as favourite, but that was where the similarities ended as Natagora took the lead from the early stages and held it throughout.

John Dunlop's Muthabara was the first to challenge, and John Gosden's Infallible made the next move as they went into The Dip but it was left to fellow Cheveley Park Stud homebred Spacious to lead the assault.

Although James Fanshawe's filly was staying on at the end, Natagora was strong enough to hold her off, with a fast-finishing Saoirse Abu third.

■ NAT'S THE WAY . . . Natagora (right) holds off her challengers to win the 1000 Guineas.

"I was quite confident she would get the mile after she ran so well over seven furlongs at Maisons Laffitte," said trainer Pascal Bary. "Christophe (Lemaire) and I would prefer to have two or three horses in front of us, but she started so well, she had to go and do the job. Not only she had speed, but she is brave."

Fanshawe said: "She ran very well. Jamie (Spencer, her jockey) said she just needed a stronger pace. She will not be going up in trip and is not a mile-and-a-half filly."

Gosden said: "Infallible got a bump at halfway which set her alight and she pulled a bit hard, which she paid the price for."

■ Luca Cumani's Curtain Call has been given his expected entry in Saturday's totesport.com Derby Trial Stakes at Lingfield.

The Group Three event is always the trainer's prep-race of choice, having used it with his subsequent Derby winners Kahyasi and High-Rise.

The second-favourite behind Twice Over for the Vodafone-sponsored Classic worked well on Saturday and could face an interesting collection of rivals, including Whistledownwind, Peter Chapple-Hyam's colt who was an eyecatching second behind Centennial in the Sandown Classic Trial.

SPEEDWAY

Tigers are just tame

Mildenhall Fen Tigers 35
Rye House Rockets 56

PREMIER TROPHY

THERE was not even a hint of the previous weekend's derby match heroics against King's Lynn as Mildenhall were hammered by their other arch-rivals, Rye House.

Led brilliantly by newly-crowned British under-21 champion Tai Woffinden, the Rockets were sharper from the gate and much tougher on a grippy, demanding West Row track.

The Fen Tigers managed to stay in some kind of contention up to heat nine when they trailed 30-24 despite going down to three 4-2 defeats in heats five, six and seven, but from there it was downhill at helter-skelter speed.

There was no prize to be won as neither could qualify for the next stage of the Trophy, but there is always a huge amount of pride at stake but Rye House took the honours.

They heaped humiliation on Mildenhall's embarrassment by inflicting three maximum heat wins in the final half-a-dozen races, including a 5-0 in heat 13 in which the two Rockets, Stefan Ekberg and Chris Neath, rode around unchallenged for four laps after Jan Graversen fell and Robbie Kessler pulled off the track after a controversial first-bend clash with Ekberg.

That was not as bad for the despairing home fans to take, however, as the heat 11 shocker in which the experienced Kessler, nominated as a possible double scoring tactical rider, was outgunned by the Rockets' rookie, Robert Mear.

The youngster highlighted the gulf between the two sides by scoring three wins in his six outings – as many as Mildenhall's top three of Kessler, Graversen and Kaj Laukkanen managed in 17 rides.

■ Tigers take on Edinburgh Monarchs at West Row on Sunday (4.130pm).

Butler hoping to serve up dream move

Racing by Peter Scargill

MOVING house is a stressful experience for anyone but couple that with 50-plus thoroughbreds and you have got a serious operation on your hands.

This is the task currently being undertaken by Gerard Butler, who plans to complete his move from Oxfordshire to Cadland Stables on Moulton Road by the end of next week.

Butler said: "Everything's going fine. Jane Chapple-Hyam (the previous occupant) has moved out and we're getting the bedding down to go.

"It's always been an ambition of mine to train in Newmarket, it's the home of racing and I can't wait to be in the thick of it."

The latest addition to the Newmarket training ranks had spent the first decade of his training life as salaried trainer at Erik Penser's Churn Stables. During that time he was responsible for high-calibre runners Beauchamp King, Beauchamp Pilot, Elusive City and Nayyir.

Butler was also responsible for the talented and courageous Compton Admiral, who won the Group One Eclipse Stakes at Sandown before fracturing his knee on his next start.

The Irishman remained in his position at Churn Stables until recently when, because of economic reasons, Penser decided to rent out the stables instead of paying Butler to be there.

However, Butler finished his last season in Oxfordshire with a flourish, winning the all-weather trainers' championship.

So was this a cunning plan by Butler to give momentum to his move to Newmarket?

"Unfortunately no," says Butler. "We thought back in October whether to go to Dubai or stay here for an all-weather campaign.

"We decided Dubai was so competitive that we should stay here and pick up some good prize money. It worked out very, very well." And two of the major contributors to that prize-money haul were Winter Derby runner-up Silver Pivotal and Dansant, who also ran in Dubai.

Butler said: "Dansant ran well above expectations in Dubai and he's coming along nicely. He could run in the Brigadier Gerard at Sandown at the end of May, as could Silver Pivotal.

"That will be in preparation for Royal Ascot, where I hope both will be able to run."

With a successful period as a salaried trainer and as all-weather champion, spirits must be high for the next stage in the Irishman's career.

All his owners, including Penser, are remaining loyal and with new ones coming in, Butler will have more than 60 horses when the yard is fully functioning.

And, as for expectations for the season ahead, Butler is positive as well as realistic.

Butler said: "It's hard to say but I'd like to be as successful as possible. I hope it all turns out as good as it can be."

RIDGEONS LEAGUE, PREMIER DIVISION

JAMES Tatham scored and Steve Spriggs missed a penalty as Mildenhall ended their campaign with a 2-1 defeat at Dereham.

The visitors went ahead when Tatham's cross-shot looped over the goalkeeper to give him his third goal in as many games.

Tony Lyes and Dave Pinkowski's men proceeded to carve out a host of good opportunities and Spriggs wasted the best chance when he failed to convert from the penalty spot.

And it came back to haunt them when Dereham launched an incisive counter-attack to equalise and snatch all three points after a goalmouth scramble.

Joint-manager Lyes, who replaced Trevor Munns at the helm alongside Pinkowski in November, believes the club can improve on their fifth-place finish next term.

He said: "It was a very difficult start and we've slowly improved and started to play the way we want to. But I don't think we need to make sweeping changes next season – I think we can keep on improving."

RIDGEONS LEAGUE, PREMIER DIVISION

TIM Gleave has his eyes on a new goalkeeper and a prolific striker as Newmarket prepare to get back into the Premier Division at the first attempt.

The Jockeys rounded off their Ridgeons League, Premier Division campaign with a fine victory at King's Lynn reserves thanks to goals from Steven Bell, David Grainger and John Olive.

Assistant manager Gleave is confident the bulk of the current squad will stay at the club next term to help them bounce back following their relegation to the First Division.

And the coach believes two new signings could make all the difference and help turn around their fortunes. Gleave said: "A lot of the players have indicated they want to stay.

"So if we can add a goalkeeper and a striker then I think we'll have a very strong squad that can push to come straight back up.

"There's a good team spirit and we've put in some good performances, but we've got to find a prolific goalscorer at that level and hopefully we'll do well in the First Division.

The Jockeys have been doomed to playing in the First Division for several weeks after a disappointing campaign which produced eight wins in 42 league games.

And the assistant boss believes a disastrous run after Christmas – which saw Newmarket lose seven consecutive matches – gave them too much work to do.

Gleave said: "We had a spell in January and February where we just couldn't get a result and that really didn't help us.

"We needed to get results then if we were going to survive as Histon reserves weren't doing very well at that time and we needed to set ourselves up to fight them."
